

Grizzly Bear

Take a Stand

This book discusses some of the problems encountered when grizzlies and humans occupy the same areas. Do you think it's OK for wildlife officials to remove bears that wander into towns looking for garbage? Write a short essay explaining your opinion. Give facts and details to support your opinion.

Grizzly Bear

Another View

This book had a lot of information about grizzly bears. As you know, every source is different. Ask a librarian or another adult to help you find another source about grizzlies. Write a short essay explaining how the new source's point of view is similar to and different from the point of view of this book's author.

Grizzly Bear

Tell the Tale

This book contains information about the characteristics and behaviors of grizzly bears. Write a 200-word story about a grizzly bear looking for a meal. Use the knowledge you have gained from reading this book to describe the sights and sounds of grizzly bears. What kind of food does the bear look for? How does the bear find or catch the food? Make sure to set the scene, develop a sequence of events, and include a conclusion.

Grizzly Bear

Surprise Me

Learning about predators can be interesting and surprising. Chapter Two discusses the grizzly bear's life cycle. What two or three facts about grizzly bears did you find most surprising? Write a few sentences about each fact. Why did you find them surprising?