

Piranha

Dig Deeper

Now that you've read this book, what questions do you still have about the piranhas? Do you want to learn more about what they eat? Or what eats them? Write down one or two questions that can guide you in doing research. With an adult's help, find a few reliable sources to answer your questions. Write a few sentences about what you learned from your research.

GREAT PREDATORS

Piranha

You Are There

This book tells how piranhas behave in their natural habitat. Imagine that you are a boy or girl living in Amazonia. How do you relate to piranhas? Do you fish for them? Do you avoid swimming in certain areas? Are you afraid of them?

Piranha

Another View

Chapter Two of this book discussed the life cycle of piranhas. As you know, every source is different. Ask a librarian or another adult to help you find another source about piranhas and their life cycle. Write a short essay comparing and contrasting the new source's point of view with that of this book's author. How are they similar? How are they different?

Piranha

Take a Stand

This book talks about how officials often kill piranhas they find outside their native habitat. Do you think these officials do the right thing? Would you do the same thing if it were your decision? Write a short essay telling what you would do and why. Make sure to include evidence to back up your opinion.
